WILSON'S SECOND NOTE IN BERLIN NOW; BRYAN AS CITIZEN ASKS ARBITRATION

EXPECT NO ANSWER FOR AT LEAST WEEK

Washington, June 10.—It became known today that just before the note was forwarded to Berlin it was shown to former Secretary Bryan by Acting Secretary Lansing at the personal direction of President Wilson. Somewhat changes had been made in the note and the president wanted Mr. Bryan to see it in its final form.

Officials would not discuss its details, but it was declared it was no more in the nature of an ultimatum than was the last note. The note makes it very plain, however, that the United States expects that Germany shall cease attacks on American ships and citizens.

Washington, June 10.—The state was believed here to have received Ambassador Gerard's note to Berlin today. It was expected that the ambassador would present the communication immediately to the German foreign minister.

FLOOD LANDS TO CHECK ITALIANS

Udine, Italy, June 10.—(Via Paris) The Austrians have attempted to transform the lower reaches of the Isonzo river into a flooded country, duplicating the fate of the Belgians, for the purpose of holding the Italian advance.

OBREGON LOSES ARM IN DIRECTING BATTLE

Washington, June 10.—Gen. Obregon, Carranza's commander in the fighting against Villa at Leon lost his right arm and narrowly escaped death by a shell while directing operations on the firing line. Consul Sullivan reported from Vera Cruz several days ago it was rumored Gen. Obregon was wounded and it was confirmed today in a dispatch to the Carranza agency as follows:

"Obregon reports today for the first time that he lost his right arm in battle at Leon when a shell wounded him, while he was directing operations on the firing line. He refused to abandon the command of his troops until victory was assured and for this reason the wound all but cost him his life."

When his physician told him after the battle that he was likely to die he said: "I am willing to give my life to my country and tell the first chief that I fell doing my duty to the Constitution."

Obregon is now out of danger, and under the care of expert doctors, is improving.

"The Villistas are being pursued and Obregon reports that they will be unable to make further serious stands against him as he marches north to Juarez. The movement against Mexico City is progressing successfully and speedily the Zapatistas being routed in every engagement."

CHICAGO CAR STRIKE SEEMS INEVITABLE

Chicago, June 10.—Belief that the strike of surface car and elevated road employees is inevitable, increased today with the announcement that leaders of the unions declined at their meeting this morning to meet representatives and discussion plans for arbitration of their differences.

The men's decision leaves the situation where it was before President Bush, of the surface lines, invited the men to a conference, the ultimatum standing that the employees' demand for wage increases and better working conditions be met by 9 o'clock tonight.

GERMANS ADVANCE IN GALICIA; TORPEDO MORE ENGLISH SHIPS

London, June 10.—The British steamer Ernaboldt has been torpedoed and sunk off Harwich by a German submarine. The members of the crew were saved.

The Ernaboldt was formerly a German steamer. She was captured by the British and put into service by them. She was of 1,045 net tons and 260 feet long and was built in 1908.

Grimsby, England, June 10.—The trawlers Tunisian, Castor and Nottingham have been sunk by German submarines. The Tunisian's crew, which was allowed five minutes in which to leave the boat arrived here today. The Castor's crew was picked up at sea. The submarines pursued another trawler, but the arrival of a patrol boat saved this vessel.

Berlin, June 10.—(Via London)—The official announcement from army headquarters today states that German forces which invaded the Baltic provinces of Russia have retreated. The statement says that the German wing southeast of Shavli has withdrawn to the south, towards the Beisigola-Zoginie line.

London, June 10.—Two British torpedo boats were torpedoed this morning off the east coast of England by a German submarine.

London, June 10.—A news dispatch received here from Mans Luis says the crews of the British trawlers Qui Vive and Edward which have been sunk by German submarines were rescued by a Dutch steamer and brought into Mans Luis.

London, June 10.—Careful reading between the lines of the various official announcements of the last 12 hours leads British observers of the situation on the continent to believe that the wearying Russians have been successful in gaining a breathing space along the eastern front. Furthermore evidence of the stubborn opposition which the Austro-Germans are said to be making near the center of the line in Galicia is declared here to exist in (Continued On Page 6)

BODY WASHED ASHORE IS NOT VANDERBILT'S

London, June 10.—The body recovered on the coast of County Clare, Ireland yesterday, was not Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, as was reported in early dispatches today, but was that of a laborer, a Russian or a Pole, according to an announcement by the Guard company this afternoon.

Mr. Vanderbilt lost his life when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine, and since then every human effort has been made to recover the body.

Word was received here this morning that the body of a man resembling Mr. Vanderbilt had been washed ashore in County Clare. In one of the man's pockets was found a gold watch resembling one worn by Mr. Vanderbilt at the time the Lusitania went down.

GERMAN EDITORS SEE ULTIMATUM IN NOTE

Berlin, June 10 (Via London)—The Vorwaerts and the Tageszeitung are the only morning newspapers in Berlin who comment on the resignation of Wan J. Bryan.

The Vorwaerts says Mr. Bryan always has been a European peace enthusiast and that his leaving the cabinet now means undoubtedly that the note in the form planned by President Wilson will not lack much of being an ultimatum to Germany. "We therefore have to do here with an event of the greatest importance," says the Vorwaerts.

Count Von Reventlow in the Tageszeitung repeats that Germany cannot recede in any degree from the standpoint already taken no matter what President Wilson's note may demand. If the imputation that Germany could consider abandoning her submarine warfare, this writer declared would be considered by the entire country as an insult.

FORMER SECRETARY WILL PUSH PLANS

Washington, June 10.—Former Secretary Bryan is preparing another statement in his attitude on the situation between the United States and Germany which he intends to issue for publication with the publication of America's note in tomorrow morning's papers.

Washington, June 10.—William J. Bryan's resignation as secretary of state and the circumstances leading up to it still held the center of interest in Washington today, overshadowing even the dispatch of another note to Germany. Its effect on the nation's foreign relations and also its political consequences afforded widespread speculation.

Chief attention was concentrated on the effect of Secretary Bryan's personal statement giving the reasons for his resignation. In that statement Mr. Bryan announced his intention as a private citizen of submitting to the public for judgment his view of what the American policy toward Germany should be.

The propositions which Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people are that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile American citizens should by proclamation be warned not to take passage on beligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition. The suggestions, Mr. Bryan explained, had been submitted to the president who had not felt justified in adopting them. It is upon these propositions that Mr. Bryan hopes to create a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible.

Mr. Bryan's statement, some officials thought, was unfortunate coming at a time when the dispatch (Continued On Page 6)

$500,000 FIRE IN LONDON

London, June 10.—Buildings covering three acres, 100 Red Cross motor ambulances and 200 army motor vans, all ready for delivery to the government were destroyed by fire today when the motor works of Brian, Hughes and Strachan at Park Royal went up in flames. The damage is estimated at $500,000. Troops had to be called upon to assist the firemen.

CHOLERA IN VIENNA

Geneva, Switzerland, June 10.—News has reached Geneva by way of Innsbruck and Buchs, Switzerland, which tends to confirm previous reports that cholera has broken out in Vienna. One report refers to twenty-six cases and another to forty-six cases of this disease in the Austrian capital. Several deaths have been reported.

The disease is believed to have been brought to Vienna from Galicia by wounded soldiers.

The authorities are taking all precautions to prevent its spread. A cholera quarantine camp is being hastily constructed outside the city.

Mrs. John Miller and Frank Morrison, of Lick Run, both seriously ill for some time, are improving. Dr. C. H. Dawson, of New Boston, is attending them.

CLAIMS RIGHT TO DESTROY AMERICAN VESSELS CARRYING CONTRABAND CARGO EXTRA!

Washington, June 10.—Germany's latest note to the United States on the sinking of the American sailing ship William F. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, received here today, makes the far reaching claim of a right to destroy any American vessel carrying contraband, while agreeing to pay damages for the Frye. The two points made by the United States are rejected by Germany. One was the statement that the note of April 28 that prize court proceedings meant unnecessary delay, all matters concerned being susceptible for prompt settlement through diplomatic channels, and the other was that the destruction of the Frye was "unquestionably a violation of the obligations imposed upon the Imperial government under existing treaties between the United States and Prussia."

Under the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 the binding force of which was admitted by Germany in its note of April 6th, the right of citizens of either country to ship arms and ammunition as well as all other kinds of contraband in their own vessels was granted in time of war, but each party had the right to detain such contraband and make payment for it if confiscated.

The note from Germany today enlarges upon the treaty of 1828 by claiming that while the treaty did not specifically permit the destruction of a ship, nevertheless its contraband could not be stopped in any other way. It could "in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the contraband and of the ship carrying it."

The effect of Germany's answer today, if its assertions are accepted by the United States, would be to throw into the prize courts for decision all cases of whether destruction of an American vessel constituted an extreme case of military necessity. International law outside of treaty stipulations has contained many a moot case on that point. While the declaration of London established finally that in case of military necessity, a ship whose cargo was more than half contraband could be destroyed after passengers and crew were removed to a place of safety, the declaration was not ratified by the United States express notice having been given again by the American government to Germany that the declaration was not regarded as in force.

MEET TO PLAN A BIGGER NAVY

New York, June 10.—A hundred men, many of whom were prominent in the financial world, had accepted invitations to attend a luncheon given by the Navy league at the Recess Club today, where a conference was planned to discuss methods of arousing interest throughout the country in a move to increase the navy. Invitations to the conference bore the signatures of J. P. Morgan, Gen. Horace Porter and others.

Col. Robert M. Thompson, chairman of the executive committee of the Navy league, announced that the most important matter to be considered in the conference would be a petition to President Wilson urging him to call a special session of congress to authorize the appropriation of $500,000,000 for national defense. The league, he said, had asked that this sum be expended as quickly as possible in providing adequate naval and military force.

Paris, June 10.—A report issued by Admiral Thaon di Revel, chief of the Italian naval staff, shows that Austrian wireless messages are intercepted regularly by the Italians says a special dispatch from Rome.

The Italians have been enabled to obtain this information which is of immense military value by the use of a new device invented by Guglielmo Marconi. The device is said to make it impossible for the Austrians to intercept messages.

Chris. Mutschler has recovered from an attack of appendicitis and resumed his duties at the Fowler Camera Shop.

Three Braunlin Brothers Perform Two Operations

Three brothers performed two operations in the operating room at the Hempstead hospital Wednesday. The three brothers, all practicing surgeons and physicians, were: Dr. William H. Braunlin, of the National Military Home, Marion, Ind., and Drs. Carl G. and Walter A. Braunlin of this city.

Mrs. Henry Napier of Young street, was the patient in the first operation, which was one for the removal of gall stones.

The second operation was performed upon Guy Butler, of New Boston, for an ununited fracture of the leg, sustained at the steel plant about a month ago. By an implantation of silver wire, the fractured bone ends were brought together and held in position, and when the union is firmly established at the site of the fracture he will go about for the rest of his days with a piece of silver wire imbedded in his body. Both operations were successful.

The Braunlin family is quite a medical family. Dr.

William H. is senior assistant surgeon at the National Military Home in Marion, Ind.; Drs. Carl G. and Walter A. Braunlin are successful practitioners in this city; Dr. Edgar L. Braunlin is assistant superintendent of the Dayton, Ohio, State Hospital; while a fifth brother, Robert F. Braunlin, is now enrolled in the medical department of the University of Cincinnati, and is planning to follow in the footsteps of his four older brothers.

Ministers Objecting To Concert Exhibition Of The Water Circus

A committee of ministers composed of Rev. Albert Marting and Rev. E. G. Hamilton, of this city, and Revs. C. Langdon and C. E. Griffin, of Ironton, appeared to the police officials Thursday to prevent the Rice & Dore water circus from giving an exhibition which, they alleged, has been given following the regular performances in the various Ohio river towns visited, and which they objected to, claiming it was suggestive.

The ministers from the up-river town claimed to have witnessed the exhibition complained of and said they had hoped to be able to take a broad view of it but found it so objectionable that they are moved to voice their protest. The features referred were said by the ministers to be a physical demonstration and a so-called Russian dance.

The circus was to show at Ashland, Ky., Thursday, at Ironton Friday and Portsmouth on Saturday.

The mayor told the committee that the city had no jurisdiction over the Ohio river and that he would be unable to act unless the boat tied up on the local shore. Otherwise it was up to the Kentucky or Federal authorities for if the show owners found themselves interfered with they might anchor their craft somewhere out in the stream. He suggested that Federal authorities be appealed to. It was the ministers' plan to permit the performance to be started then cause the arrest of the entire troupe.

It was finally decided to appeal to Sheppard Johnson, the U. S. commissioner for this section and this was done. Just what steps will be taken has not yet been fully decided upon.

BOY FELL 14 FEET, ESCAPED INJURY

Louis, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, of Front street, fell fourteen feet from an upstairs porch to the ground below without seriously injuring himself Thursday morning. No bones were broken and his injuries were confined to a few bruises about the head and hands. He was watching his sister blow bubbles on the back porch and became so interested that he lost his balance and toppled over the rail.

The last chapter in the present school year will be written Friday morning when students of the elementary grades will receive their yearly report cards, which all parents are urged to examine closely. All the teachers will meet in the High school building Friday afternoon to assign the pupils for the coming year.

"This work will be done in the rough tomorrow, the final assignments to be made later," said Supt. Appel, Thursday.

STILL NO TRACE OF MISSING MAN

Up to Thursday afternoon no trace had as yet been found of Theodore Stern, the Cincinnati born man, who mysteriously disappeared from the home of his brother, Robert Stern, of this city, last Saturday morning.

The young man had been feeling ill and was given to melancholy a few days before he disappeared. A search made in Ironton, where he talked of taking employment, was without result. He was formerly employed in a clothing store in Cincinnati.

BANK HEAD DEFIES THE POLICEMEN

Pittsburgh, June 10—Defying a squad of police which has been rushed to the scene in response to a call, A. Succop, president of the Germania Savings Bank, stood for more than two hours with one foot on either side of a hole in the pavement and refused to permit workmen employed by a lighting company to place a pole in front of the bank building, one half a block from the busiest corner in Pittsburgh. Crowds gathered and traffic was badly congested, but he refused to leave the building until the lighting company finally agreed to remove other poles which had been placed in front of the building and the bank president withdrew.

The remedy is a simple matter if you act promptly. Go to your drug-gist and get a box of genuine GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules. Haaren Oil has been a standard remedy for all kidney and bladder troubles since 1890. It is imported direct from the ancient laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. No substitute will give the proper result. Prices 25c, 50c and $1.00. Your money positively refunded if you do not get prompt relief, and soon feel the old-time "ginger" of youth.

The above is "Candy," the elephant with the human brain, who is one of the features of the Smith Greasy Shows here all next week under the auspices of the Steam Fitters' Union. The wild animal exhibit is one of the most interesting collections of wild animals ever seen in the city. Many funny tricks are performed by the groups of bears, hyenas, wolves, lions and goats.

"The Smith Greasy Shows this season are the same high class attractions that have won the management praise and a lasting reputation."

SOCIETY

The teachers of Highland school had a merry time as a farewell to their happy school year, and also for the pleasure of four brides to be from this school. At noon an elegant dinner was served on the middle porch at this pretty building.

The large table was adorned with a huge cluster of rambler roses in the center, under which was suggested an envelope. Around the table were branches of cherries. The envelope was addressed to the four lucky ones. After the dinner was served Miss Sprecher told the bride-to-be to look for the envelope, which contained the following:

"Those four who are the bride-to-be,

If they will look by yonder tree, A little note perchance will see."

The "lucky ones," Miss Helen Royce, Miss Hattie Byron, Miss Ruth Cook and Miss Shirley Dadds, had a great time finding the tree in which they found a note:

"Yes, here a little note you found. Now go to the room and look around!"

They went to the room on the extreme north end and found another note:

"Somewhere on the fire escape, look with care, A Thimble you will find hiding there."

They went to the fire-escape at the extreme south end and here they found a note containing:

"Brides bring bells, Bells bring brides, To get to the bell, go to the attic."

The first girls wanted their way to the attic, where they found in a book by the school bell, which has brought them so often to this building:

"Down three flights you'll have to go, Where furnaces do pull and blow, Then down to the basement they went, as they were all anxious to see what was in store for them. And in the books about the furnace they found another note, saying:

"Has your heart a little key, Would it twin you like to see, Then to Number 11 you must go And search there both high and low."

They finally found the key to which was attached:

"I am but a little key, Pick me up and carry me, Till you find the lock I fit, Put me in and open it."

They finally found the drawer, which, when opened, they discovered four daintily wrapped packages, each of which contained a sterling silver cold meat fork and a cream ladle of Mary Chilton pattern. A card attached was inscribed "With congratulations and best wishes from your friends at the feast."

The weddings will all take place this month.

Miss Helen Royce will wed Mr. Edwin Oglesby of Middletown; Miss Cook will wed Mr. William Newman, of Sciotoville; Miss Shirley Dadds will wed Mr. Harry Jordan and Miss Hattie Byron will be married June 23rd to Mr. Clay Atkinson. BASE BALL IN PORTSMOUTH.

What is the matter with base ball in Portsmouth? It is not the team for it is going fine. We never had a more promising ball team than we have right now, and the fact that it stands at the top of the procession is evidence of its ability to take care of itself. Nor again, are the contests one sided! On the contrary some of the prettiest base ball to be found anywhere is being played in the Ohio State. Why then is it that the men and women who enjoy a ball game are failing to turn out to the games? Why is it that those who have attained fame as 15 karat rooters and who never missed a game in days gone by are conspicuous this season only by their absence?

This is the state of affairs in Portsmouth and it is also true of every other town in the Ohio State League. Also it is said to be true of almost all other leagues. We have asked a number of those who used to go regularly and who are not going this year why, and all have said, "oh, I don't know. Some way I haven't gotten interested this year. Maybe I'll waken up one of these days."

We wonder if base ball is on the down grade, if it is losing its popularity as a national sport. It may be so, but we can only believe that the lack of interest is temporary. There are a good many other things to distract public attention right now and there is also a dark brown taste in the mouths of many on account of the unseemly scuffling between the Federal and the older association, a scuffling in which the commercial and not the sporting side of base ball is in evidence.

But whatever the situation, we have a good ball team. It is deserving of patronage. We hope that you will take our word for it, if you are not in the habit of attending, and that you will lend the assistance of your presence towards bringing another pennant to Portsmouth.

Another of the about-face movements of the day will be executed by those German-American papers that have been eulging Bryan all sorts of names and accusing him of being pro-English because he has a son-in-law in the British army. Now he will no doubt become their hero, the man who stood by Germany against the pro-English bias of the President, even to the extent of resigning his office. And we miss our guess, or George Sylvester Viereck, of The Fatherland, who has been most vociferous in his abuse will lead the procession to the new music.

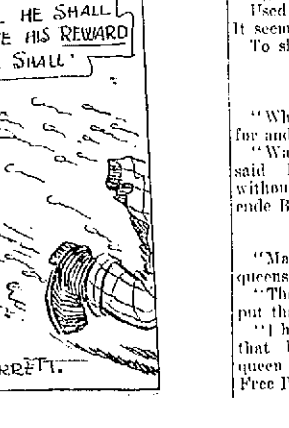

We know it is real selfish and displays a grasping, avicious disposition, but somehow every time nowadays we catch sight of a man with a jag we find ourselves hopefully speculating as to whether or not a good, kind policeman will connect up with the jagged one and tenderly escort him to the cool, convenient and comfortable police station. You see we get thirty cents per jag from the educational and uplifting anti-saloon league for running those blackface bands, "no booze, no jags, vote Ohio dry in November" as a horrible reminder of the past and of hope for the future.

One of the sad little features of every day life in the political bread line was to observe the twitches of agony that swept over certain noble countenances at the news from Columbus that the Hon. Chas. E. Hard was regarded as a certainty for the office of member of the industrial commission. With Charlie safe inside the treasury it is a cinch that the door will be shut in the faces of the rest of the four figure bread line patriots down in this neck of the woods.

One of the little blessings in disguise in Bryan's resignation is that brave and prominent Democrats in Ohio will not now be afraid of offending the president and prejudicing future chances for office by declining kind and thoughtful invitations to preside at meetings when Bryan comes to Ohio to help wallop Demon Rum, this fall.

Still, now that there have been such wonderful and beneficent results from the late Republican get-together feed, we do not see why the city administration should not also get up a free feed and invite all the Democrats to sit down, put their feet under the mahogany and stuff themselves. They say a man is more reasonable on a full stomach.

POLLY AND HER PALS

JOYS OF JUNE.

JUST BETWEEN FRIENDS

We can see no reason why the resignation of Bryan as secretary of state should create the sensation it has or be regarded as an unwise serious incident, except that European countries will place a somewhat different interpretation upon it and give it an importance, which in our form of politics and government, by no means attaches to it.

To a degree it is unfortunate that Mr. Bryan's convictions should carry him to such an extreme at this particular juncture, but his retirement from a cabinet position sooner or later could, considering various situations arising, have been freely anticipated. It is the foreign crisis that makes his action in a manner momentous. In no sense can it be looked upon as a break with Wilson. Mr. Bryan did not feel he could in good conscience subordinate his profound convictions for peace to the sterner views of the president and he quit. Officially the two are apart, but personally they are together, that there is from one to the other the warmest friendship and unstinted esteem, with no individual antipathies to bring about clash and hostile differences, a condition accentuated not only by mutual public professions of regard, but strengthened by the latest declaration of Mr. Bryan that he will continue an active and unreserved supporter of President Wilson's domestic policies.

We are not of those who think the retirement of Bryan means sore trouble for the Democratic party. His course, though admittedly taken from altogether honorable motives, will have but one certain effect and that is to loosen the quite all powerful influence he wielded over the Democratic party for sixteen years and better, while on the other hand it will clearly make Wilson, what he became on his nomination, the actual head and leader of the Democracy. The overwhelming majority of his party will stand steadfast and unshaken by him, just as the overwhelming mass of the people will back him up in the stand, which led to Bryan's resignation.

We rather judge from the whirlwind character of the campaign being conducted by Candidate McCormick he intends sweeping all opposition off its feet. At present McCormick has the old timers running around in rings in mad anxiety to kill him off.

The general idea of what properly constitutes an old fashioned good roads day is to get a shovel and cart and dump all the refuse you can find in the middle of the road and leave it there for those who travel to wear down into a proper crown for the pike.

"Sny," said the man with the breath, "this grape juice stuff don't seem to put any fighting blood into a man's veins."

Careful reading of Mr. Bryan's note of explanation as to just why he felt impelled to resign his office as secretary of state does not give one as good an impression as did the bald announcement that he had resigned on account of a difference of policy. It was an explanation that did not go very far in satisfying.

Now that the inalienable right to elect assessors has been restored to the people, it is pleasing to note that the old time holders of the inalienable right to run for assessor are again on the job. Scan the list of candidates who are announcing and forever hold your peace.

The very latest and most authentic dope on the Scioto bridge is that it is likely to be completed and ready for traffic about the first of October. Just when the gentleman who has the tow path contract expects to finish his job, dependent knoweth not. Probably some time next year, judging from present rate of progress.

"Are you the editor of the paper?" asked the lady with the drab spats, calling. "I am," replied the man with the poised pencil. "Well, I called to ask you if you wouldn't get larger type. My name was in your paper five times last week and a neighbor of mine told me she never saw it."—Yankers Statesman.

Bryan's resignation created a sensation, but the main surprise ought to be that it didn't happen long before.

The total of prospective claims for damages for the extension of the flood wall through the classic precincts of Slabtown, foots up around $20,000, which is real modest considering it is just damages in perspective.

Judging from wireless accounts of that big revival now in progress at Oak Hill and the flattering reports of the number in imminent danger of salvation, we have hopes for Editor Funk. We have hopes.

We hate to think now what would happen to an American newspaper in Germany that would criticize the government as some hyperbated papers have criticized the government here.—Youngstown Telegram.

OLD NEW YORK
by Off-intyre

New York, June 10.—Fame, Martinique and Imperial, fanned Winsted, that little vil- but who eat (get the distinction) lage in Connecticut, is to be abol- ished. It is to be gobbled up by a larger municipality. There is not a man, woman or child in New York who does not know Winsted—and the little burg was made famous by an obscure news- paper correspondent.

He sent out such amusing, im- possible items to New York newspapers that they printed them purely on account of their absurdity. An item with the slug line over it reading "By Our Winsted Correspondent" was always the cause of laughter and on Park Row the fake writers were known as Winsteders.

The fame of Winsted has even gone all over the country. Pa- pers in other cities clipped the Winsted items written by the Winsted genius. There were stories about the white snake which chased Pat Murphy's cow and the rooster which drank hard cider and shocked some good old members of the Woman's Temperance Union to say nothing of the trained doodle-bug that com- mitted suicide when the village hotel keeper died.

Spotters have been placed on the prominent hotel promena- des, beginning at Thirty-fourth street and ending at Thirty- first, there is a series of arcades, each a block in length, which have become one of the popular runways of Broadway.

The series of passageways are the corridors of the McAl- pin, Martinique and Imperial Hotels, making it possible for any one to enter the McAlpin on Thirty-fourth street and emerge from the Imperial on Thirty- first street with only the incon- venience of crossing two narrow streets.

The general public has taken such advantage of these corri- dors that the hotels have had to organize private traffic squads. Travel becomes congested about mid time. For the corridors are favorite meeting places not only for those who dine at the McAlpin, Martinique and Imperial, where he has been for six weeks. He was in such a serious condi- tion at one time that all of his relatives were called. Cobb had expected to return to the tren- ches, but his illness prevented and he will remain in New York all summer.

He lives in the Hendrick Hud- son apartments on Riverside Drive and will have the benefit of the cool breezes from the Hud- son during the heated term.

The Sleepy Song

As soon as the fire burns red and low

And the house upstairs is still,

She sings me a queer little sleepy song

Of sheep, that go over the hill.

The good little sheep run quick and soft,

Their colors are grey and white;

They follow their leader nose to tail,

For they must be home by night.

And one slips over and one comes next,

And one runs after behind.

The grey one's nose at the white one's tail,

The top of the hill they find.

And when they get to the top of the hill

They quickly slip away,

But one runs over and one comes next,

Their colors are white and grey.

And over they go, and over they go,

And over the top of the hill.

The good little sheep run quick and soft,

And the house upstairs is still.

And one slips over and one comes next,

The good, little, grey little sheep!

I watch how the fire burns red and low,

And she says that I fall asleep.

Never Saw a Bun Dance

It was the grammar lesson, and the teacher was explaining the difference between a common and abstract noun.

"An example of a common noun is dog," she said, "for you can see it, while you cannot see anything that is an abstract noun. For instance, have any of you seen abundance?"

There was silence for about a minute. Then a little boy got up and said:

"Please, ma'am. I have never seen a bun dancer, but I have seen a cake walk."—Hamilton, Can., Labor News.

"They don't, my dear. What put that into your head?"

"I heard pa telling Uncle Jim that he paid a lot to look at a queen full last night."—Detroit Free Press.

Jane Addams' Peace Move Not Encouraged

Rome, June 9.—(Via Paris June 10)—Jane Addams, of Chicago, chairman of the special committee appointed by the Women's Peace Conference at The Hague to visit the capitals of Europe in an effort to hasten an end of hostilities has left Rome for Madrid, whence she will go to France and Belgium.

While here Miss Addams was received courteously by Pope Benedict, Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, Minister Salandra and Foreign Minister Sonnino.

Although the ministers of the Italian government listened respectfully to her peace propaganda they gave her little encouragement. She was received with greater sympathy, however, at the Vatican where the Pope has labored to bring about peace but even there no secret was made of the fact that the present moment was considered scarcely opportune for such a movement as Miss Addams has undertaken.

She was told by Pope Benedict that he admires greatly the firmness and serenity of President Wilson. His Holiness expressed the hope that the initiative for peace would come from America and he pledged himself to support such a proposal with all the influence of the Holy See.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS
New York, June 10.—The unsettledness in the stock market resulting from Secretary Bryan's resignation seemed to have dissipated itself today. Shares of various classes opened with substantial gains, war specialties again leading. Bethlehem Steel began with a one point gain which it soon increased to four. General Electric rose 3/4 and Westinghouse, Crucible steel and pressed steel car advanced a point or more. Coppers and Motors rose 1/2 to 2 points, while Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Reading bettered their positions to a similar extent. United States Steel on its first sale of 1800 shares, rose a point over yesterday's close.

Except for brief pauses the market continued to advance. A noteworthy feature was the relatively light trading, the first hour's business amounting to only about 120,000 shares, with steady diminution after the period. Coppers as a whole were the strongest issues, with average gains of almost 2 points, and a new high price for the metal.

Bethlehem steel preferred rose to the record quotation and General Electric increased its gain 6 points to 17 1/2. Pacific and Reading were strongest of the railway group. Bonds were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, June 10.—Wheat prices took an upward swing today influenced somewhat by word of an important demand at Liverpool. Unseasonable weather in both northwest and southwest counted also against the bears. Predictions for a week current that after the recent high shrinkage in prices a renewal of liberal cash buying would help to rally the market. After opening 1/2 and 1/4 off 1/2, quotations here scored decided gains all around.

Adverse crop conditions especially in Iowa gave a lift to the corn market. Another element in favor of higher prices was a sharp reduction of the estimated exportable surplus in Argentina. The opening which showed an advance of 1/2 to 1 and 1 1/2, was followed by a moderate further upturn.

Oats responded to the strength of other grain. Rural offers, however, increased on the advance.

Provisions rose with corn and hogs.

Subsequently, assertions that foreigners were cancelling purchases of new crop wheat led to a sharp setback in wheat. The decline was to the lowest figure yet on the crop. Prices closed steady at 1 1/2 and 1 3/4 under last night.

Later the bearish reaction in wheat brought about a sag in corn. The close was unsettled at 1 1/2 and 1 1/4 above last night.

What American Papers Say About Bryan's Resignation

BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD—Mr. Bryan did just as any other spirited man would have done, and his action will be regretted.

INDIANAPOLIS STAR—Although Mr. Bryan may be correct enough in his insistence upon an even break between Germany and Great Britain, it is impossible to see how the administration can withdraw in any degree from the attitude it adopted in the original Lusitania note.

TOLEDO BLADE—While the controversy continues we must forget partisanship; ties of blood, the sympathies and biases which the war has bred and hold up the president's arms.

LOUISVILLE HERALD—Mr. Bryan resigns as a matter of principle and it is greatly to his credit.

COLUMBUS (OHIO) STATE JOURNAL—The resignation at this time will be universally regretted because it might give a wrong impression.

CHICAGO HERALD—Probably for the first time in his public career William Jennings Bryan will find the people of America practically unanimous in favor of something he had put forward—his resignation.

PITTSBURGH POST—With the president just so firmly in favor of peace as was Mr. Bryan, patience had ceased to be a virtue.

LOS ANGELES TIMES—The secretary was the weakest point in the president's line and now he can strengthen it.

KANSAS CITY JOURNAL—If Germany takes consolation from the incident by construing it as an indication that the American people are not solidly behind the president, it will be wholly without justification.

NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE—President Wilson is a man of nerve, whom the people should listen to and look to for advice.

ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS—In spite of the unpopularity Mr. Bryan has achieved during his incumbency, it is somewhat unfortunate that the break is in any way founded upon differences of policy which have an international bearing.

MILWAUKEE HERALD (GERMAN)—William J. Bryan's service to this country is found in these words: "I cannot join with you in the note which you have prepared for transmission to the German government."

BOSTON JOURNAL—If the American public were more in a mood to applaud a show of principle and less ready to condemn signs of weakness, there might be a feeling of something very much like admiration for Mr. Bryan.

BOSTON POST—The wonder is not that Mr. Bryan resigned yesterday, but that he did not do so long ago.

MEMPHIS (TENN.) COMMERCIAL APPEAL—The nation whose policy is peace at any price is a dying nation, and Mr. Bryan, entertaining these views, should never have taken the office of secretary of state.

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT—

GRAT—Mr. Bryan could have found no better way of causing the president embarrassment in this crisis.

PHILADELPHIA PRESS—Mr. Bryan has shown himself, both mentally and temperamentally, disqualified for the very important position.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER—Nothing in Mr. Bryan's tenure of the office of secretary of state becomes him like the leaving of it.

CLEVELAND LEADER—The resignation of Mr. Bryan is a distinct and important victory for strong and thorough-going Americanism.

CLEVELAND WAORER UND ANZIGER (German)—Mr. Bryan's presidential aspirations will be better hereafter than they ever were before.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER—If Mr. Bryan could not reconcile himself to that attitude, there remained for him only the step which he has taken.

NEW YORK HERALD—President Wilson is fortunate in getting rid of his liability before the decks are cleared for action.

NEW YORK AMERICAN—The nation may well hope that the breaking up of the Wilson cabinet may be the only serious result of the stubborn determination of the president to force upon Germany unreasonable and impossible conditions of warfare.

NEW YORK TIMES—It is perhaps the wisest act of his political career.

NEW YORK PRESS—When we have reached the stage where the German issue must be met fairly and squarely, Mr. Bryan's authority in the state department could only excite the Berlin foreign office to fresh defiance of our position.

NEW YORK SUN—It will be a long time before Americans will forgive the man who sulked and ran away from honor and patriotism should have kept him at his post.

NEW YORK WORLD—Mr. Bryan has done the one thing in his power most likely to bring about war.

LABORER'S FACE WILL ADORN NEW DOLLAR

San Francisco, June 10.—A coin bearing the image of the face of a laborer will be placed in circulation by the United States government for the first time in the history of the world's coinage. It was understood, when a special gold dollar, commemorative of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, is stamped in a few days at the San Francisco mint. Twenty-five thousand of the coins will be issued. The coin will have a double significance, for it will commemorate labor's share in the building of the nation and will recognize the efforts for workmen who built the Panama canal. The emblem of labor will be on one side and a representation of two dolphins, symbolizing the oceans, will appear on the other side.

The first of the commemorative exposition coins, fifty dollar gold pieces, will be struck at the mint here Tuesday. This issue will be limited to 3,000.

SUMMONS U. S. SAILORS

San Francisco, June 10.—Subpoenas to appear before the federal judge were today served on 21 members of the crew of the American steamer Sacramento which arrived here yesterday from Valparaiso, Chile, where it is charged the Sacramento violated neutrality laws by transferring a cargo of supplies to a German fleet of six warships 3 1/2 miles from Valparaiso near an island belonging to Chile.

After the alleged transfer the Sacramento steamed to Valparaiso and was seized by the Chilean government. Her commander, Captain A. T. Anderson and two officers remained with the steamer during her internment. Formerly the Sacramento was the German freighter Alexandria.

THINKS BRYAN RECOILED FROM SHARP ACTION

Berlin, June 10.—In discussing the resignation of Mr. Bryan as secretary of state the Tagblatt, while not imputing him to pro-German sympathies and declaring that at times he even has seemed less friendly than President Wilson, assumes that his political experience, "recoiled from sharp action."

Germany, a Catholic organ, thinks Mr. Bryan's retirement means an important change in the American policy which probably will be favorable to German interests.

Italy King Visits Troops On Field

Rome, June 10.—The presence of King Victor Emmanuel at the front is having a tremendous moral effect upon the Italian troops according to reports reaching the capital from all sections of the long battle line. His Majesty is visiting every zone where fighting is taking place, which has meant the expenditure of a vast amount of energy on his part as the line of advance of the Italian forces is exceedingly irregular and he frequently has climbed to fortresses situated upon lofty heights along the frontier. Much of his travelling has been done on horseback because the roads on a considerable portion of the front. The king is adored by his troops. 6,409 Of England's 'Tars' Perish In War

London, June 10.—The total number of officers and men who have perished through the sinking of British naval craft since the outbreak of the war is 6,409, according to a statement made by T. J. McNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty in the house of commons this afternoon. This total does not include the men who lost their lives on the mine layer Princess Irene and the British battleship Bulwark, both of which were blown up in Sheerness harbor.

GERMANS ADVANCE

The statement from Petrograd that 2,000 Austro-German prisoners have been taken in a series of counter attacks near Przemyśl. According to Russian reports the Austro-German offensive in southeast Galicia has not been able to cross the river Dniester at any point other than Zurewka, which is 40 miles from Lemberg and which they reached last Sunday.

Berlin contradicts this with the statement that the right wing of the army under General Von Linsingen has advanced ten miles further and occupied Stanislaw, an important railroad center. In the west the French make their usual slow report of progress, accompanied by the repulse of German counter attacks. The French claim and Berlin admits that the French are now in possession of the entire village of Noville St. Vaast while only a fraction of "The Labyrinth" is left in German hands. From other portions of the French front comes reports of minor advances. According to Vienna the efforts of the Italians to cross the river Isonzo near Gorizia have been repulsed after a serious engagement. It would appear evident that the Italians have met the first difficult problem of their invasion of Austria in this endeavor to cross the Isonzo, although they claim to have a foothold at some places on both banks.

GERMAN REPORT

Berlin, June 10.—The text of the official German statement issued today is:

"In the western theatre: 'Battles at Souchez and Neuville continue. To the northwest of Souchez attempts of the French to make an attack were frustrated at the very start. To the west of Souchez, in the north of the sugar refinery, the French obtained minor advantages. An attack made by the enemy against out positions to the north of Neuville broke down.'

"Advances attempted by the enemy east of Hebuterne failed. In the course of the latest battle there, 200 Frenchmen were made prisoners."

"In the region of Soain and to the north of Marbus we took possession of several enemy trenches."

"North of Les Mesnil a French position was taken by storm and maintained, notwithstanding an enemy night attack. A number of machine guns and four mine throwers fell into our hands."

"In the western part of the forest of Le Prieux, a section of our outer trenches remained in the hands of the enemy."

"In the eastern theatre: 'To the southeast of Shavli the Russians offered strong resistance yesterday to our advance. Minor progress was made. The booty taken by us in the last two days in this district amounts to 2,250 prisoners and two machine guns. The enemy brought forward reinforcements from a northeastern direction in opposition to our encircling movement on the east of the Dabysa. On account of this menace our men were withdrawn."

"South of the Nieten river we took 3,020 Russian prisoners while in pursuit of the enemy since June 6. We also captured two flogs, 12 machine guns and many field kitchens and carts."

"The situation to the east of Przemyśl remains unchanged."

"Fresh Russian forces advanced from the region of Mikulaw and Rohatyn, to the south and the southeast of Lemberg respectively. Their attack was repulsed by parts of the army under General Linsingen on the line of Litvina, northeast of Drohobele and Zurewka in the Dniester section."

"East of Stanislaw and at Kalendix battles and pursuit continue."

FRENCH REPORT

Paris, June 10.—The French war office this afternoon issued a report which reads:

"There was all last night night a very violent artillery engagement in the region between Lorette and the sugar refinery at Souchez. At nine o'clock at night the enemy delivered an attack which was, however, at once repulsed."

"The Germans bombarded Neuville St. Vaast but they made no endeavor to recapture it. We made further progress yesterday in the Labyrinth. In the vicinity of Hebuterne we maintained all our advance on a front 1800 yards long and for a depth of about 1,000 yards."

"There is nothing further to report from the remainder of the front."

ITALIAN REPORT

Rome, June 9. (Via Paris, June 10).—Efforts of Italian troops to force a passage of the Isonzo river have been stubbornly contested by the Austrians, but are meeting with success, according to a statement signed by Gen. Cadorna, chief of the general staff issued at the war office tonight. The communication follows:

"With the object of repulsing the enemy from dominating positions he still holds on the right bank of the Isonzo and establishing strong positions at the passage of the river, we continued our operations. The enemy offered a determined resistance favored by the lay of the ground and the strong fortifications. Everywhere our troops fought with ardor and tenacity and succeeded in taking important positions which enabled them to occupy the city of Montebello. The fire of our batteries considerably damaged the enemy's artillery at a number of points."

sion with Germany was in progress. Some members of the cabinet had advised against the issuance of the statement.

There was considerable speculation here today as to who would succeed Mr. Bryan. While the president is not expected to make choice for some weeks it was believed that Robert Lansing, counselor of the state department, who has been commissioned as secretary of state ad interim, eventually would receive the permanent appointment.

Mr. Bryan began today his first full day as a private citizen in several years. He spent the day quietly, devoting much time to reading and answering telegrams of congratulations of friends all over the country. Mr. Bryan has not determined definitely his plans for the future.

positions at the passage of the river, we continued our operations. The enemy offered a determined resistance, favored by the lay of the ground and the strong fortifications. Everywhere our troops fought with ardor and tenacity and succeeded in taking important positions which enabled them to occupy the city of Montebello. The fire of our batteries considerably damaged the enemy's artillery at a number of points."

"In the difficult region of Montebello, a successful attack on our part led the occupation of positions from which the Austrians fled, leaving one hundred bodies, which we buried, and sixty wounded."

"Near Caporetto seventy Bosnian soldiers surrendered."

"In other regions along the Isonzo we made over 400 prisoners. Our losses were unimportant. In the Tyrol Trento frontier our forces continue in close co-operation their action against positions which must be occupied in order to force the enemy to disclose his defensive preparations and permit the development of ulterior operations."

"Notwithstanding the determined resistance of the enemy, our troops have approached beyond the frontier close to Falzergo pass at the foot of the Sasso Di Stria."

"A victorious action was fought ten kilometers (about 7 miles) north of Corbina D'Ampezzo. A piece of artillery remained in our hands. Our Alpine troops definitely took it on the evening of the eighth, making one hundred prisoners."

NEW NOTE REACHES BERLIN

offer. It will be given out tonight for publication tomorrow. In the meantime President Wilson asked that detailed forecasts of the note be not published.

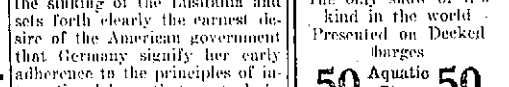

It is understood here that the German government will not make answer to the American note until Meyer Gohard, the special envoy chosen by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, to outline the American point of view to the government at Berlin arrives and explains the situation. This, it is estimated, will take at least a week or ten days.

The latest note, though couched in friendly tones, reiterates firmly the demand for reparation for the loss of American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania and sets forth clearly the earnest desire of the American government that Germany signify her early adherence to the principles of international law—that neutrals be permitted to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to the dangers of submarine warfare.

Elks Plan Elaborately For New Lodge Rooms

Messrs. Paul Esselborn and Alan Jordan stated late this afternoon that L. D. York had accepted the proposition outlined below and the deal was formally closed.

An epoch in Portsmouth Elksdom was written at the meeting of the Elks last evening, when tentative plans calling for a complete remodeling of the second floor of the Play House building for lodge and club room purposes, were approved, and the committee instructed to close negotiations with the owner, Levi D. York, according to his own proposition, submitted last evening.

Four more elegant or commodious lodge quarters in this section of the state will be found, if the plans, as so presented, are carried out.

The large space above the first floor will be made into two floors, both of which will be tened by the lodge. Entrance into the quarters will be on Sixth street, just east of the Play House cigar store entrance, while a service entrance will be provided just a short distance further east. A dumb waiter, leading from the service entrance, will be used to carry supplies and articles from the first floor to the second or third floor.

San Parlor Is Planned

On entering the building the members will walk up a flight of stairs to the second floor which will lead them into a sun parlor on the Sixth street side, directly above the entrance. From the sun parlor they can continue out into an open veranda, which extends twenty-five feet north on the Chillicothe street side. Arrangements can be made to enclose this porch in the winter months.

The entrance into the second floor proper of the building will lead into a spacious lobby, to the west of which will be located two ladies' reception rooms, equipped with all conveniences and facilities. Just opposite on the east side will be two gentlemen's lounge rooms, with a billiard room adjoining them. A gentleman's toilet room, equipped with three shower baths, is another feature of this floor, as is also a library room.

One-half of the first floor, the north half, will be used as a lodge room. It will measure 45x57 feet, and three inches, and will be capable of accommodating the largest crowds that have ever heretofore attended a lodge meeting.

The Exalted Ruler's station will be located in the alcove at the north end of the building, built to provide for the preacher's pulpit in the old Sixth street M. E. church. Excellent arrangements will also be made for the other officers' stations.

Banquet Room

And Dance Hall

On the third floor another spacious lobby will be located at the top of the flight of stairs. To the left small committee rooms will be provided. To the right a large and completely appointed kitchen. To the north of all, running the full width of the building, will be located the banquet room and dance hall, capable of seating 250 guests at banquet tables. This will be one of the big features of the quarters.

Leading off the banquet room to the north will be a large balcony overlooking the lodge room on the third floor below. This can be used to accommodate the overflow of large meetings, music for a dance and many other purposes.

With its ideal location and splendid accommodations it is thought that the building will be frequently desired by local organizations and civic bodies for banquets and entertainments, and the lodge hopes to realize handsomely from this source.

The financial program was agreed upon last evening, and the committee given full authority to close the deal with Mr. York.

The entire improvements are to cost not more than $5000, all of which is to be borne by the lodge, ten annual notes of $500 given to secure the cost. The terms also provide for an annual rental which was considered a fair one by the lodge.

Furnishings and Decorations Will Be Very Elaborate.

While nothing definite was decided upon the lodge indicated that the interior furnishings and decorations would be of the most elegant and elaborate order.

It is hoped to have the quarters available by Kern Carnival week, when hundreds of the antlered tribe from neighboring cities and towns will be guests of the lodge. A big "Opening Week Fair" is to celebrate the opening of the new quarters.

The committee in charge of the negotiations is composed of Paul Esselborn, Alan Jordan, Vallee Harold and Richard Bates. Mr. Bates, the local architect, drew up the plans for the improvements and will have complete supervision of the work.

Jewels Presented To Messrs. Zoellner and Oakes

Another pleasing feature of the interesting meeting was the presentation of past officers' jewels to Karl Zoellner and Orin B. Oakes. The presentation speech was made by E. K. S. Clinkenbeard, also a past exalted ruler.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. There is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easy assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same waste you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Fisher & Streich and other leading druggists in Portsmouth and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

whose speech was an eloquent effort. He spoke of the untiring efforts of Messrs. Zoellner and Oakes on behalf of Portsmouth lodge, and of the appreciation felt by the members of the lodge which found expression in the beautiful gifts about to be bestowed upon them by the lodge. Mr. Clinkenbeard's speech was loudly applauded.

Next speeches of acceptance were made by the recipients, who expressed their thanks in no unimpeachable terms.

Gen. Jacob H. Smith Gave Splendid Talk

General Jacob H. Smith, an honored member, on the eve of his departure for the Adirondacks for the summer, made an eloquent speech of farewell, which fairly bristled with patriotic sentiments. He spoke of the trying situation which the country was facing at this time, and urged upon every Elk to loyally support the president in this crisis. While not favoring war, General Smith let it be known that he favored being prepared for war. The applause after his speech lasted several seconds.

The lodge received an invitation from the Jackson Lodge of Elks to attend the annual barbecue on June 22. Several members indicated that they would attend.

After the meeting an enjoyable buffet lunch was served, the arrangements being in charge of Robert E. Lewis, Joseph Augustin and Ralph Ruggles.

CLUE FIZZLES

Reports that Henry Glenn, alias "High Yaller" alleged gun-man in the Baneau murder case, had been located at Torchlight, Va., have been investigated by an officer detailed by Chief McCarty and proved to be unfounded. A man closely resembling "High Yaller" was under surveillance there by L. J. Scherer, chief agent of the C. & O. railway.

Henry Lewis, a colored former detective, was a caller at police headquarters Thursday morning and reported having talked with "High Yaller" at an East End brick yard two days ago. He said "High Yaller" accused him of being one of those camping on his trail. Lewis said he was unarmed at the time and therefore made no effort to capture the fugitive. "Bad Eye" Ward, a North End negro, also claims to have seen "High Yaller" in the city a little over a week ago.

GEN'L SMITH WILL BE NEAR SUMMER MILITARY CAMP

General Jacob H. Smith and wife will leave next Tuesday for Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., where they will spend the summer. They will be near the Students' Military Institute Camp at Plattsburg, one of the five military camps operated in this country this summer under the supervision of the U. S. War Department, and an institution that is dear to General Smith.

The objects of the camps is to give the young men of the country opportunity for a short course in military training, the better to fit them to discharge their military duty should their country ever stand in need of their services. The summer vacation is selected to enable students to attend with the least inconvenience and greatest instructional advantage.

In addition to this there are physical benefits to be derived from the active, healthful, outdoor life of a military camp, and such a change from the confinement and physical strain of the scholastic year should prove a permanent benefit to the student. The mutually broadening influences of association with students of other institutions and the opportunity for athletic contests, as well as the novelty of the experience itself, all tend to contribute variety and interest to the program.

The lasting benefit, however, of these camps is that they foster a patriotic spirit, without which a nation soon loses its virility and falls into decay; they spread among the citizens of the country a more thorough knowledge of military history, military policy and military needs, all necessary to the complete education of a well-equipped citizen in order that he may himself form just and true opinions on military topics.

Students enroll for a period of five weeks, and are subject to the rigid discipline prescribed by the government. They must pay their own transportation and their board, the latter at the rate of $3.50 a week, healthful and ample meals being guaranteed.

The uniform consists of one suit of cotton olive-drab uniform one extra air of breeches, one campaign hat with distinctive hat cord, one pair leggings and two cotton (or wool) olive-drab shirts. The government furnishes caps, blankets, tentage, cooking outfit, a complete infantry equipment for each man, including rifle, bayonet, cartridge belt, canteen, shelter tent half, pole and pins, haversack, pack carrier, individual mess kit, knife, fork, spoon and cup and other necessary articles. Instructions in the use of their equipment are given by army experts.

General Smith would like to see a number of the young men from this section of the state enlist in the camp.

There seemed no lot up to the down-pour, and the woman after waiting for some time, started on her way, but Mrs. Maupin kindly loaned her a shawl and umbrella. That was the last she has seen of the two articles.

FUNDS FOR SEWERS

The city council street committee of which George Glicker is chairman, held a called meeting at the city building Thursday morning and decided that there were funds available to permit of the building of the following proposed sanitary sewers:

The Adam Pfau and Aphognat alley sewers; the sewer in the block between Union and Offshore streets north of Eleventh and the balance of the block east of the Offshore street school; Blackberry alley sewer to take care of the N. & W. passenger depot and colored school building; the block between Fifth and Sixth streets west of Glover street; storm sewer between Seventeenth street and Kinney lane east of Hutchins avenue; small sewer in alley east of court house running to the first intersecting alley; storm sewer at Twentieth street and Baird avenue. The city engineer will at once prepare the necessary estimates. The matter of drainage in Sunnyside on both sides of Waller street including the Lincoln school was regarded quite an undertaking and was left to the engineer to work out a comprehensive plan to be embraced in a future bond issue.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, N. H. Office Phone 90. Residence A-592.

Miss Dolly Wise.—Is Germany Protestant or Catholic nation?
R. F.

Germany is a Protestant country, but of course there are a great many Catholics there, too.

Dear Dolly.—Is it all right for a young man to use powder?
DAN.

It's perfectly all right for a young man to use powder, providing he doesn't put it on too thick. Get a powder puff and carry it with you so you can powder your nose when you feel it is getting shiny.

George P. O.—Dear Dolly.—Will you please give me a recipe for making rose beads?
A READER.

If you will send or phone me your name and address I will mail the recipe to you. It was in this column one day last week and is too lengthy to print again.

Dear Dolly.—When entering a pay-entrer car, should the lady wait on the platform until the man has paid the fare, or should she enter the car and seat herself?
ELASIE.

She should enter and take her seat.

Dear Dolly.—Will you kindly explain why flags at half mast means mourning and why are they left that way when some noted personage dies?

SCHOOL BOY.

In reply I quote from an English newspaper a correspondent of which put the same question after the general mourning for Lord Roberts: "Ever since flags were used in war it has been the custom to have the emblem of the superior or conquering nation above that of the inferior or vanquished. When an army found itself hopelessly beaten it hauled its flag down far enough for the flag of the victors to be placed above it on the same pole. That was a token not only of submission but of respect. In those days, when a famous soldier died, flags were lowered out of respect to his memory. The custom long ago passed into common use. The flag at half mast is a sign that one is dead who was worthy of universal respect. The space left above the flag is for the flag of the great conqueror of all, the angel of death."

Dear Dolly.—Is there any harm in a girl going to call at a young man's house to see his mother. I keep company with the man. This mother has asked me to come and see her.
SUSTE.

It would be all right to call on his mother, but if I were you I'd time my visit so as to call when the young man is not at home. Otherwise it would look as though you were running after him.

Dear Dolly.—Do you think it would be all right for a girl of fourteen to assist in caring for a baby during the summer, in some respectable family and do you know of any such place? How is my writing and spelling?
Y. Z.

Sure it would little one. I do not know of any place just now, but if you will call me up every day or so I'll try and find a place for you. Your writing and spelling are both good.

Dear Dolly.—Will you kindly advise me what will remove a vanilla ice cream spot from a blue self taffeta skirt?
MARIE.

Sponge with equal parts of alcohol and ether to remove the sugar and accumulated dust. Wipe dry with soft linen. If a blur remain after the stuff is perfectly dry it means that the oily part of the cream has left a greasy spot. Get at the wrong side of the taffeta and rub into the spot powdered French chalk. Leave it on for eight or ten hours and brush out the powder. It will take the grease with it and leave no mark.

Dear Dolly.—Can you give me some idea of the number of people engaged in industrial pursuits in the United States? Of course, I know the number can not be stated exactly, but I should like to have some notion—say within a million or so—of the number of known workers in these United States.
LABORING MAN.

An approximate estimate, according to the latest census, is not far from 40,000,000, including all trades and professions. A mighty army of laborers, that increases in size yearly.

Foreigner Found Wandering Around Near Dam, Not Verego

For a time Thursday morning the police thought they had located Andy Verego, the fever-ridden patient, who escaped from Hempstead hospital during a heavy fog early Monday morning but the man found was not the one wanted.

Word had been received at headquarters that a bareheaded and barefooted stranger had drifted into a fishing camp on the Kentucky side, about a quarter of a mile above the government dam and opposite the lower edge of the county infirmary farm, Wednesday night, had spoken but a few words and seemed to be suffering with fever. The city service wagon in charge of Clerk Dennis Coriell and Officers Branham and Osborn made a hurry run to the infirmary farm, where the officers secured a skiff and crossed the river. It required but one glance at the man lying outstretched across a bed in the camp to convince them that he was not Verego, who was light haired, with heavy mustache and stocky built. The man they saw was tall, hatched faced, of thin build and had about a week's growth of whiskers.

The officers learned that the foreigner came down the river bank after wading across a slough and excitedly asked for a hot drink. He seemed feverish and was given a stimulant. He left only to return later suffering with chills and asked to be allowed to warm himself. He was made as comfortable as possible. He was still feverish Thursday morning. The officers advised the fishermen to communicate with Squire James Braden, of Fullerton, Ky., and have some arrangements made for giving the stricken man proper care and treatment.

Hopes of ever finding Verego have practically been abandoned and it is feared that in his deranged state of mind he committed suicide by drowning himself in the Scioto river.

WATER CIRCUS MAKES A HIT AT HUNTINGTON

Relative to the appearance of Rico and Dore's water circus in Huntington, the Herald of that city Thursday said:

"The Rico and Dore water carnival, which opened a two days' engagement at the Tenth street river front yesterday, played to a medium audience yesterday afternoon, but on last night the crowd taxed the capacity of the improvised auditorium, and the enthusiasm was high."

The aquatic setting is rounded out to perfection by the introduction of very clever "water clowns," who give to the aquatic circus all the humor that attaches to the clown of the circus ring.

The diving girls are numerous and their work is perfection itself. The high diving features are superior to anything ever seen in Huntington.

CORNS LIFT OUT

Dr. Hunt's New Penetration Method
Locates Them Root and All.
FULL SIZE BOX 10c.

No corn ever went so easily, quickly or surely as by Dr. Hunt's new way—the penetration principle of permanently curing corns. Dr. Hunt has devoted a life of study to this one subject. The final result is this entirely different method—a method by which corns GO forever in two short days.

Dr. Hunt's New Corn Cure comes in a simple plaster form. Six plasters is a box. Cut plaster size of corn and apply. Don't "boil" like clumsy pads. Contains no caustic to smart or cause blood-poisoning. No paring necessary. Wear any shoes. Ease comes the moment you apply this new remedy. You walk in comfort. You forget your feet. In two days corn lifts out.

Nothing like Dr. Hunt's New Corn Cure has been known before. It is an entirely new principle. Millions of packages have already been sold. Cures any corn. They must go. And the price is only ten cents a box. Guaranteed or money back. That's very little to pay for foot comfort. Sold by druggists and shoe dealers everywhere. Cure your corns once and for all, this new way. If any difficulty in securing, send 10 cents in stamps for a box, to American Chemical Company, Sidney, Ohio.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

Keep her locks youthful, dark, glossy and thick with common garden
Sage and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly.
Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 60 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-made tonic called "Wynette's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after regular application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and thick. You will also discover that dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.
Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wynette's
Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small tube of Ely's Cream Balm from your fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils. Let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

SAYS CITY HELPED UNWORTHY

A letter bearing the signature of Mrs. Lovemier, of Waller street, has been received at the city building protesting against helping unworthy persons when there are so many deserving people out of work. She cites one case in the neighborhood, alleging that after receiving help from the city the family holds drinking bouts, etc. Mrs. Lovemier is assured, by way of reply, that it is contrary to the policy of officials to help any but worthy poor, but that sometimes they are unavoidably imposed upon.

DOLLS FROM GERMANY

That Germany, in a commercial sense, is not an isolated country, so far as the United States is concerned, is shown by the fact that the Marling Bros. Co. has just received a big consignment of dolls direct from the land of Kaiser William. The order for these dolls was placed quite a while ago, and it was feared would never be filled, but they came through in splendid shape and will be on display next fall when the kids of the city begin figuring on the visit of Santa Claus. The dolls were so carefully packed that not one was damaged in the least, showing that their voyage to this country was not intercepted by hidden mines or submarines.

PREVENT ACID STOMACHS

A specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, says, "Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion, and causes pain and stomach ills. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. It is positively necessary to neutralize the acid and stop fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonsful of bisaturated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask Fisher & Streich, your druggist, for the bisaturated magnesia, as other forms utterly lack its peculiarly valuable properties."

THE FIRST THING A GOOD DOCTOR PRESCRIBES

A good physic and liver stimulant is usually the first remedy prescribed by the physician when called to a case. He does so because he knows that most of our ills are directly or indirectly due to constipation, sluggish liver, etc.; therefore his first concern is to reach and remove the probable cause of the illness, and the system, relieved of this poisonous feces, again becomes normal.

And that is exactly the idea behind Santalax Laxative Tablets, a remedy for constipation, indigestion, and liver troubles, every ingredient of which has been passed on and approved by an eminent chemist, which you or any of your family may take and which easily and effectively, will cleanse your system, stimulate your liver, thereby ridding your organs and your blood of many of the underlying causes of illness and trouble.

Santalax Laxatives contain no calomel. They are mild yet very effective. Do not grip nor irritate.

We know Santalax Laxatives will satisfy you. So positive are we of this that we sell Santalax under a broad money-back guarantee, viz.: If in your judgment they don't give you the results you expect, send us the empty box; we will refund your money.

Santalax are on sale at your druggist's. Ten doses, 10c. Send for a box, take one tonight and make tomorrow bright. A physician's trial package free, if you mention this advertisement when you write. Santalax Remedies Co., 505 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, O.

Its Chief Charm To Women

THE great problem with the housekeeper is keeping home clean. It seldom is as untidy as she professes it, but it is still her most strenuous effort to keep it in order and free from dirt. In this work so important to her and at the same time so altogether commendable she can have no greater help than electric service. This in two ways, not making dirt and a powerful agency in removing it.

No heat, just a bit of warmth, is thrown out by the electric light ordinarily used in the home. For this reason, unlike any flame light, it does not create any air current that concentrates the dust and the particles that float in the air at one point. You see a flame made by consuming elements, heats the air about it, which then ascends and cooler air rushes in to take its place making, in effect a funnel into which is poured such light substances as may be moved and carried on the currents. The heat from an electric lamp is not sufficient to make the temperature required to start a definite air current.

Prevention is better than cure and so the electric current is desirable because it operates largely as a preventive. It can be used though most effectively as a curative—that is it can be effectively used as a cleaner. No broom can do the work one-hundredth time as well as an electric sweeper. The reason of this is the agitation of the broom always raises a dust. You may by its use get the dust out of the carpet and dirt off the floor, but you have always got to go and dust and wipe the furniture after using it to be sure that your furniture is altogether presentable. You don't have to do that with an electric sweeper. It doesn't raise any dust. It sucks into an air tight bag all the dirt and foreign substances on the floor and stows them safely away in an air tight bag, from which they can be emptied on the outside, whenever it becomes necessary. Electric sweepers cover a wide range in prices, but no matter what the price paid for one its use, if it be of good make, will be highly satisfactory and as a rule quite economical.

We can't see though, whether it makes any difference whether one or both of these reasons appeal to the housekeeper. Certain it is either is ample sufficient to justify her in wanting electric service and both would be doubly so. But the whole is not embraced even in both for there are other "good and sufficient reasons" why this wonderful agency should be placed at every woman's beck and call and we will allude to some of them in our future talks.

The thing we would impress now is for the woman herself to think about what we have said, think of the comfort, the pleasure, yes even the health and longer life that may be hers if she insist on the possession of this utility.

Yours to serve,

The Portsmouth Street Railway and Light Company

CRUSHED IN TURNTABLE, DIES FROM THE INJURIES

Crushed so badly that death resulted three hours later was the fate of Marcella Richards, age 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Richards of Marion, O. Tuesday she fell into the Pennsylvania turntable pit at Marion and sustained injuries that caused death. The remains were brought to the home of the deceased's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller of Galia pike, New Boston, Wednesday night.

Tuesday noon Marcella Richards and two boys and two girls started playing on the turntable which is still used by the railroad. The five children were moving the table when suddenly little Miss Richards fell. Her body caught between the tracks in the turntable pit and was crushed, forty stitches being necessary to close the three wounds, one in her back, one across her left hip and the other just above and penetrating the abdominal wall. The little nurse, withstood the ordeal well and after her injuries were attended to she begged her mother not to cry as she was not badly hurt. Three hours after the accident she passed away.

She was born on Blue Run, back of New Boston, and the family has many friends in New Boston and this city who will remember little Marcella who left with the family four years ago when they moved to Marion. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, Howard and Forest.

The funeral was held from the Keller home Thursday afternoon at two o'clock with Rev. Payton formerly of this city in charge. Interment was made in Glendale cemetery near Blue Run.

Republicans May Spring Dark Horse

Rumor was current on the streets this afternoon that some of the Republican leaders would spring a "dark horse" candidate for mayor before the time for filing petitions was over tonight. The report was that their candidate had never been heretofore mentioned as a candidate. Their action hinged, largely, it is said, on whether a candidate would be trotted out in opposition to Mayor Frick for the Democratic nomination.

It was also reported that Victor Horland, former chief of police, was going to make the race against Mayor Frick and that his petition would be filed late tonight.

Career Of "Boy Orator" Bryan Reads Like Romantic Novel

William Jennings Bryan's resignation as secretary of state because of a question of principle at a critical moment in the nation's history added another sensation to a spectacular career—a life devoted to arduous political campaigning, the lecture platform and the cause of universal peace.

Attracting attention when he went to congress in 1891, he leaped into prominence at once, with a speech that electrified his audience, the tall lanky westerner had early earned the name of "Boy Orator of the Platte." His famous "cross of gold and crown of thorns" speech in 1896 at the psychological moment in the Democratic convention won for him the nomination for the presidency. When the Spanish American war broke out he enlisted and went to the front as colonel of a regiment he helped to form. On his return he again came into prominence at the Democratic convention of 1900, and throughout his campaign against McKinley advocated the granting of independence to the Philippines and a policy of "anti-imperialism."

Notwithstanding his political defeats he was acclaimed as the peerless leader of Democracy and was supported by a large personal following.

When Mr. Bryan returned from a trip around the world in 1910, he was greeted by a great crowd in Madison Square Garden his speech advocating government ownership of railways stirred up a sensation in Democratic politics. It was shortly after this that Woodrow Wilson, then president of Princeton University, wrote the famous letter to Adrain Johnson, declaring that the speech made him feel that Mr. Bryan "ought to be knocked into a cocked hat."

Although instructed as a delegate for Champ Clark, Mr. Bryan caused another sensation at the Baltimore convention in 1912, by his fight on the Taftism leaders in the New York delegation. He switched his support to Mr. Wilson, at a critical moment, a circumstance, to which has been ascribed Mr. Wilson's nomination as well as the birth of a personal feud with Champ Clark.

During the national campaign of 1912 Mr. Bryan made many speeches for Mr. Wilson, principally in the far west.

While holding the portfolio of secretary of state, Mr. Bryan has continued in the public eye not alone through his official acts, but his devotion to two things—lecturing and politics. One of the first sensations of his official career was his announcement that grape juice would be substituted for alcoholic beverages whenever he entertained members of the diplomatic corps. His statement that $12,000 a year was not sufficient for a cabinet officer, and that he, therefore, must lecture to earn more money was another episode which drew forth comment around the world. He disregarded newspaper criticism, declaring he had never absent himself when official business required his presence in Washington. His letter concerning the distribution of patronage in San Domingo to "deserving Democrats" was another incident widely discussed.

BRYAN WILL ASK ARBITRATION

MAY ASK THAT POINTS AT ISSUE WITH KAISER BE SETTLED PEACEFULLY

Washington, June 10.—William W. Bryan's resignation as secretary of state and the circumstances leading up to it still hold the center of interest in Washington today, overshadowing even the dispatch of another note to Germany. Its effect on the nation's foreign relations and also its political consequences afforded widespread speculation.

Chief attention was concentrated on the effect of Secretary Bryan's personal statement giving the reasons for his resignation. In that statement Mr. Bryan announced his intention as a private citizen of submitting to the public for judgment his view of what the American policy toward Germany should be.

The propositions which Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the

AMERICAN NOTE IN BERLIN NOW; WON'T BE ANSWERED FOR WEEK

What American Papers Say About Bryan's Resignation

BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD—Mr. Bryan did just as any other spirited man would have done, and his action will be regretted.

INDIANAPOLIS STAR—Although Mr. Bryan may be correct enough in his insistence upon an even break between Germany and Great Britain, it is impossible to see how the administration can withdraw in any degree from the attitude it adopted in the original Lusitania note.

TOLEDO BLADE—While the controversy continues we must forget partisanship, ties of blood, the sympathies and biases which the war has bred and hold up the president's arms.

LOUISVILLE HERALD—Mr. Bryan resigns as a matter of principle and it is greatly to his credit.

COLUMBUS (OHIO) STATE JOURNAL—The resignation of this time will be universally regretted, because it might give a wrong impression.

CHICAGO HERALD—Probably for the first time in his public career William Jennings Bryan will find the people of America practically unanimous in favor of something he had put forward—his resignation.

PITTSBURGH POST—With the president just as firmly in favor of peace as was Mr. Bryan, judgments had ceased to be a virtue.

LOS ANGELES TIMES—The secretary was the weakest point in the president's line and now he can strengthen it.

KANSAS CITY JOURNAL—If Germany takes consolation from the incident by construing it as an indication that the American people are not solidly behind the president, it will be wholly without justification.

NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE—President Wilson is a man of nerve, whom the people should listen to and look to for advice.

ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS—In spite of the unpopularity Mr. Bryan has achieved during his incumbency, it is somewhat unfortunate that the break is in any way founded upon differences of policy which have an international bearing.

MILWAUKEE HERALD (GERMAN)—William J. Bryan's service to this country is found in these words: "I cannot join with you in the note which you have prepared for transmission to the German government."

BOSTON JOURNAL—If the American public were more in a mood to applaud a show of principle and less ready to condemn signs of weakness, there might be a feeling of something very much like admiration for Mr. Bryan.

BOSTON POST—The wonder is not that Mr. Bryan resigned yesterday, but that he did not do so long ago.

MEMPHIS (TENN.) COMMERCIAL APPEAL—The nation whose policy is peace at any price is a dying nation, and Mr. Bryan, entertaining these views, should never have taken the office of secretary of state.

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT—Mr. Bryan could have found no better way of ending the president's embarrassment in this crisis.

PHILADELPHIA PRESS—Mr. Bryan has shown himself, both mentally and temperamentally, disqualified for the very important position.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER—Nothing in Mr. Bryan's tenure of the office of secretary of state becomes him like the leaving of it.

CLEVELAND LEADER—The resignation of Mr. Bryan is a distinct and important victory for strong and thoroughgoing Americanism.

CLEVELAND WACHTER UND ANZEIGER (German)—Mr. Bryan's presidential aspirations will be better hereafter than they ever were before.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER—If Mr. Bryan could not reconcile himself to that attitude, there remained for him only the step which he has taken.

NEW YORK HERALD—President Wilson is fortunate in getting rid of his liability before the decks are cleared for action.

NEW YORK AMERICAN—The nation may well hope that the breaking up of the Wilson cabinet may be the only serious result of the stubborn determination of the president to force upon Germany unreasonable and impossible conditions of warfare.

NEW YORK TIMES—It is perhaps the wisest act of his political career.

NEW YORK PRESS—When we have reached the stage where the German issue must be met fairly and squarely, Mr. Bryan's authority in the state department could only urge the Berlin foreign office to fresh defiance of our position.

NEW YORK SUN—It will be a long time before Americans will forgive the man who split and ran away when honor and patriotism should have kept him at his post.

NEW YORK WORLD—Mr. Bryan has done the one thing in his power most likely to bring about war.

REPEATS DEMANDS THAT AMERICANS BE GRANTED SAFETY

Washington, June 10.—The American note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania which precipitated the crisis in President Wilson's cabinet and as a climax to which William J. Bryan resigned as secretary of state was believed here to have reached Ambassador Gerard in Berlin today. It was expected that the ambassador would present the communication immediately to the German foreign office. It will be given out tonight for publication tomorrow. In the meantime President Wilson asked that detailed forecasts of the note be not published.

It is understood here that the German government will not make answer to the American note until Meyer Gorhardt, the special envoy chosen by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, to outline the American point of view to the government at Berlin arrives and explains the situation. This, it is estimated, will take at least a week or ten days.

The latest note, though couched in friendly tones, reiterates firmly the demand for reparation for the loss of American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania and sets forth, clearly, the earnest desire of the American government that Germany signify her early adherence to the principles of international law—that controls her movements to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to the dangers of submarine warfare.

TRAWLER IS SUNK

London, June 10.—The Grimby steam trawler Nottingham was sunk in the North Sea Monday by the shell fire of a German submarine. The crew was saved.

OREW IS LANDED

Hartlepool, June 10.—The crew of the trawler Velocity, which has been sunk at sea by a German submarine, were landed here this morning after being 82 hours at sea in a small boat without food or water. The men were in a terrible state of exhaustion when picked up by the vessel which brought them to port.

The submarine fired five shells at the Velocity to send her to the bottom.

ONE GERMAN SHIP SUNK

Berlin, June 10.—Only one German ship, a collier, was sunk by a Russian submarine in the naval engagement of June 5 in the Baltic sea off the gulf of Riga, according to reliable information received here today.

Denial was made of a report published in the Army Messenger at Petrograd that there were explosions on other vessels attacked by Russian submarines or that any other damage was done.

LOOK FOR BAD EGGS IN OHIO

Columbus, June 10.—State egg inspectors will start tours of the state next week to discover bad eggs and to start prosecutions of producers or dealers who sell them, it was announced today by Septimus Mawrer, chief egg inspector. Inspections will be made with candling machines and heavy fines are provided by law for persons who sell bad eggs.

Regular inspections have been considered unnecessary heretofore this year, owing to cool weather and consequent good preservation of eggs. Chief Inspector Mawrer declared:

BODY OF VANDERBILT IS WASHED ASHORE

London, June 10.—(11:45 a. m.)—A report has been received from Ireland that the body of Alfred Guyon Vanderbilt, who lost his life May 7 when the Lusitania went down, has been found.

The body was found by an old woman who was collecting seaweed on the Clere coast, near Doolin, north of the cliffs of Mohr.

A watch in the clothing is said to bear the initials of Mr. Vanderbilt, and papers in the pockets would appear to identify him.

The body was washed ashore last night. This information came to London in a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Of the 1400 persons who lost their lives in the sinking off the coast of Ireland by a German submarine of the liner Lusitania, the bodies of a large proportion never were recovered. Among these was Mr. Vanderbilt.

Members of the Vanderbilt family conducted a personal search along the coast for many days and shorted men to patrol off the old head of Kinsale. Rewards were offered, but in County Clare, is on the

Italy King Visits Troops On Field

Rome, June 10.—The presence of King Victor Emmanuel at the front is having a tremendous moral effect upon the Italian troops according to reports reaching the capital from all sections of the long battle line. His Majesty is visiting every zone where fighting is taking place, which has meant the expenditure of a vast amount of energy on his part as the line of advance of the Italian forces is exceedingly irregular and he frequently has climbed to fortresses situated upon lofty heights along the frontier. Much of his travelling has been done on horseback because the roads on a considerable portion of the front. The king is idolized by his troops.

Queen-Elena, during the absence of the king from Rome is giving up all her time to philanthropic and relief work.

Prinz Eitel Captain Disguised As Cook Caught By Italians

Paris, June 10.—The captain of the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich has been arrested while disguised as a cook aboard an Italian steamer, says an Anceiras dispatch to the Havas Agency.

Commander Thierichens, commander of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, interned his vessel at Newport News on the night of April 7. He and his officers gave their parole to the United States authorities, thereby agreeing not to leave American soil.

The Prinz Eitel Friedrich entered the harbor at Newport News March 10, ostensibly to make repairs, and take aboard supplies. This port of refuge was reached by the German cruiser after an adventurous career. Commander Thierichens was expected to make a dash for sea after necessary repairs to his ship had been completed, but is supposed to have abandoned the plan because of the careful watch kept by British cruisers off Newport News to prevent his escape. There has been no previous intimation that he had left the United States.

MARCONI DEVICE GETS ALL AUSTRIAN FLASHES

Paris, June 10.—A report issued by Admiral Thaon di Revel, chief of the Italian naval staff, shows that Austrian wireless messages are intercepted regularly by the Italians says a special dispatch from Rome.

The Italians have been enabled to obtain this information which is of immense military value by the use of a new device invented by Guglielmo Marconi. The device is said to make it impossible for the Austrians to intercept messages.

LABORER'S FACE WILL ADORN NEW DOLLAR

San Francisco, June 10.—A coin bearing the image of the face of a laborer will be placed in circulation by the United States government for the first time in the history of the world's coinage. It was understood that a special gold dollar, commemorative of the Panama Pacific Exposition, is stamped in a few days at the San Francisco mint. Twenty-five thousand of the coins will be issued. The coin will have a double significance, for it will commemorate labor's share in the building of the nation and will recognize the efforts for workers who built the Panama canal. The emblem of labor will be on one side and a representation of a worker, typifying the means will appear on the other side.

The first of the commemorative exposition coins, fifty dollar gold pieces, will be struck at the mint here Tuesday. This issue will be limited to 3,000.

SAYS BRYAN SHOULDN'T HAVE DESERTED WILSON

Paris, June 10.—Great importance is attached by newspapers to the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan from the cabinet of President Wilson. They express the belief that it explains the delay in answering the German reply to the first American note of protest on the sinking of the Lusitania and forecasts the contents of the second note just sent.

"It must be admitted that such a resignation, and above all such a letter surprises us in Europe," says Jean Herbet, one of the best known French writers on foreign affairs.

"It is hard for us to understand that a minister at a time when his country was discussing with Germany so grave a question as the use of submarines against merchant ships could part company with his chief executive and openly declare that he is complete disagreement with him as to the methods to be employed."

"We should say this minister had no right to diminish the prestige of his government before foreign countries, but Mr. Bryan has a double excuse. First of all, ministerial discipline must have seemed rather lax, for a man who so many times has stood at the presidency. Then, too, his departure does not in any way lessen the prestige of his government, for that prestige rests on the urgent patriotism of the American people, on the deep sense of justice, honor, high character and popularity of President Wilson, and last, but not least, on the powerful fleet which President Wilson reviewed last month."

BASE BALL IN PORTSMOUTH.

What is the matter with base ball in Portsmouth? It is not the team for it is going fine. We never had a more promising ball team than we have right now, and the fact that it stands at the top of the procession is evidence of its ability to take care of itself. Nor again, are the contests one sided? On the contrary some of the prettiest base ball to be found anywhere is being played in the Ohio State. Why then is it that the men and women who enjoy a ball game are falling to turn out to the games? Why is it that those who have attained fame as "18 karat rooters" and who never missed a game in days gone by are conspicuous this season only by their absence?

This is the state of affairs in Portsmouth and it is also true of every other town in the Ohio late League. Also it is said to be true of almost all other leagues. We have asked a number of those who used to go regularly and who are not going this year why, and all have said, "oh, I don't know. Some way I haven't gotten interested this year. Maybe I'll wake up one of these days."

We wonder if base ball is on the down grade, if it is losing its popularity as a national sport. It may be so, but we can only believe that the lack of interest is temporary. There are a good many other things to distract public attention right now and there is also a dark brown taste in the mouths of many on account of the unseemly scuffling between the Federals and the older association, a scuffling in which the commercial and not the sporting side of base ball is in evidence.

But whatever the situation, we have a good ball team. It is deserving of patronage. We hope that you will take our word for it, if you are not in the habit of attending, and that you will lend the assistance of your presence towards bringing another pennant to Portsmouth.

Another of the about-face movements of the day will be executed by those German-American papers that have been calling Bryan all sorts of names and warning him of being pro-English because he has a son-in-law in the British army. Now he will no doubt become their hero, the man who stood by Germany against the pro-English bias of the President, even to the extent of resigning his office. And we miss our guess or George Sylvester Viereck, of The Vaterland, who has been most vociferous in his abuse will lead the procession to the new music.

We know it is real selfish and displays a grasping, avaricious disposition, but somehow every time nowadays we catch sight of a man with a jag we find ourselves hopefully speculating as to whether or not a good, kind policeman will connect up with the jagged one and tenderly escort him to the cool, convenient and comfortable police station. You see we get thirty cents per jag from the educational and uplifting anti-saloon league for running those blackface locals, "no booze, no jags, vote Ohio dry in November" as a horrible reminder of the past and of hope for the future.

One of the little features of every day life in the political bread line was to observe the twitches of agony that swept over certain noble countenances at the news from Columbus that the Hon. Chas. E. Hard was regarded as a certainty for the office of member of the industrial commission. With Charlie safe inside the treasury it is a cinch that the door will be shut in the faces of the rest of the four figure bread line patriots down in this neck of the woods.

One of the little blessings in disguise in Bryan's resignation is that brave and prominent Democrats in Ohio will not now be afraid of offending the president and prejudicing future chances for office by declining kind and thoughtful invitations to preside at meetings when Bryan comes to Ohio to help wullop Demon Rum, this fall.

Still, now that there have been such wonderful and beneficent results from the late Republican get-together feed, we do not see why the city administration should not also get up a free feed and invite all the Democrats to sit down, put their feet under the mahogany and stuff themselves. They say a man is more reasonable on a full stomach.

JOYS OF JUNE.

JUST BETWEEN FRIENDS

We can see no reason why the resignation of Bryan as secretary of state should create the sensation it has or be regarded as an anywise serious incident, except that European countries will place a somewhat different interpretation upon it and give it an importance, which in our form of politics and government, by no means attaches to it.

To a degree it is unfortunate that Mr. Bryan's convictions should carry him to such an extreme at this particular juncture, but his retirement from a cabinet position sooner or later could, considering various situations arising, have been freely anticipated. It is the foreign crisis that makes his action in a manner momentous. In no sense can it be looked upon as a break with Wilson. Mr. Bryan did not feel he could in good conscience subordinate his profound convictions for peace to the sterner views of the president and he quit. Officially the two are apart, but personally they are together, that there is from one to the other the warmest friendship and justified esteem, with no individual antipathies to bring about clash and hostile differences, a condition accentuated not only by mutual professions of regard, but strengthened by the latest declaration of Mr. Bryan that he will continue an active and unreserved supporter of President Wilson's domestic policies.

We are not of those who think the retirement of Bryan means sore trouble for the Democratic party. His course, though admittedly taken from altogether honorable motives, will have but one certain effect and that is to loosen the quite all powerful influence he wielded over the Democratic party for sixteen years, and better, while on the other hand it will clearly make Wilson, who he became on his nomination, the actual head and leader of the Democracy. The overwhelming majority of his party will stand steadfast and unshaken by him, just as the overwhelming mass of the people will back him up in the stand, which led to Bryan's resignation.

We rather judge from the whirlwind character of the campaign being conducted by Candidate McCormick he intends sweeping all opposition off its feet. At present McCormick has the old timers running around in rings in mind anxiety to kill him off.

The general idea of what properly constitutes an old fashioned good rondo day is to get a shovel and cart and dump all the refuse you can find in the middle of the road and leave it there for those who travel to wear down into a proper crown for the pike.

"Say," said the man with the breath, "this grape juice stuff don't seem to put any fighting blood into a man's veins."

Careful reading of Mr. Bryan's note of explanation as to just why he felt impelled to resign his office as secretary of state does not give one as good an impression as did the bald announcement that he had resigned on account of a difference of policy. It was an explanation that did not go very far in satisfying.

Now that the inalienable right to elect assessors has been restored to the people, it is pleasing to note that the old time holders of the inalienable right to run for assessor are again on the job. Scan the list of candidates, who are announcing and forever hold your peace.

The very latest and most authentic dope on the Scioto bridge is that it is likely to be completed and ready for traffic about the first of October. Just when the gentleman who has the tow path contract expects to finish his job, deponent knoweth not. Probably some time next year judging from present rate of progress.

"Are you the editor of the paper?" asked the lady with the drab spots, calling. "I am," replied the man with the polished pencil. "Well, I called to ask you if you wouldn't get larger type. My name was in your paper five times last week and a neighbor of mine told me she never saw it."—Yonkers Statesman.

Bryan's resignation created a sensation, but the main surprise ought to be that it didn't happen long before.

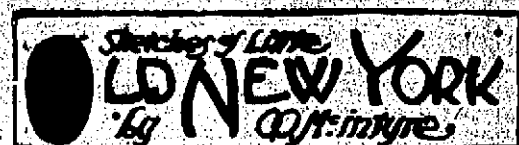

The total of prospective claims for damages for the extension of the flood wall through the classic precincts of Slabtown, foots up around $20,000, which is real modest considering it is just damages in prospective.

Judging from wireless accounts of that big revival now in progress at Oak Hill and the fluttering reports of the number in imminent danger of salvation, we have hopes for Editor Funk. We have hopes.

We hate to think now what would happen to an American newspaper in Germany that would criticize the government as some hyphenated papers have criticized the government here.—Youngstown Telegram.

The Sleepy Song

As soon as the fire burns red and low

And the house upstairs is still,
She sings me a queer little sleepy song

Of sleep that go over the hill.

The good little sheep run quick and swift,

Their colors are grey and white;

They follow their leader nose to tail,

For they must be home by night.

And one slips over and one comes
next,

And one runs after behind,

The grey one's nose at the white one's tail,

The top of the hill they find.

And when they get to the top of the hill

They quickly slip away,

But one runs over and one comes
next,

Their colors are white and grey.

And over they go, and over they go,

And over the top of the hill

The good little sheep run quick and soft,

And the house upstairs is still.

And one slips over and one comes
next,

The good little, grey little sheep!
I watch how the fire burns red and low,
And she says that I fall asleep.

Foreigner Found Wandering Around Near Dam, Not Verego

For a time Thursday morning the police thought they had located Andy Verego, the fever-crazed patient who escaped from Hempstead hospital, during a heavy fog early Monday morning but the man found was not the one wanted.

Word had been received at headquarters that a burly-headed and barefooted stranger had drifted into a fishing camp on the Kentucky side about a quarter of a mile above the government dam and opposite the lower edge of the county infirmary farm. Wednesday night, had spoken but a few words and seemed to be suffering with fever.

The city service wagon in charge of Clerk Deamus Correll and Officers Branham and Osborn made a hurry run to the infirmary farm where the officers secured a skin and crossed the river. It required but one glance at the man lying outstretched across a bed in the camp to convince them that he was not Verego, who was light haired, with heavy mistle and stockily built. The man they saw was tall, hatched faced, of thin build and had about a week's growth of whiskers.

The officers learned that the foreigner came down the river bank after wading across a slough and excitedly asked for a hot drink.

He seemed feverish and was given a stimulant. He left only to return later suffering with chills and asked to be allowed to warm himself. He was made as comfortable as possible. He was still feverish Thursday morning. The officers advised the fishermen to communicate with Squire James Braden, of Fullerton, Ky., and have some arrangements made for giving the stricken man proper care and treatment.

Hopes of ever finding Verego have practically been abandoned and it is feared that in his deranged state of mind he committed suicide by drowning himself in the Scioto river.

Interest has been added to the western trip by the announcement that a "movie" camera man will make the trip and preserve a film record of all important happenings.

OBITUARY

Peter Current

After being unconscious for five days, Peter Current passed away at his home in McDermott Tuesday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock. Last Friday forenoon while working in the cornfield near his home he was stricken with paralysis and to be carried to his home. He lapsed into unconsciousness and remained that way until about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon when he regained consciousness. Several hours later he died, death being caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. The deceased was about 65 years of age and was widely known in that part of the county.

Mr. Current was of a very quiet nature and seldom came to the city where his small circle of friends received the news of his death with great surprise Wednesday. In and around McDermott he was a very familiar character and well liked by all who had the pleasure of being numbered as one of his friends. He had been a resident of McDermott about ten years.

He leaves his wife Julia Current and nine children, four daughters, Essie, Effie, Bertha, Ivy and five sons, Clarence, James, Alva, Charles and Roy.

The funeral was held Thursday morning at ten o'clock from the M. E. church at McDermott with Rev. A. D. Singer of Lombardsville in charge of the last rites. Burial was made in the cemetery at Rushtown.

From what could be gathered from her talk, the child had spent the night at the home of a Mrs. Young on Robinson avenue. The mother, who had tramped the streets all night long and who was almost prostrated with grief over her child's disappearance, declares she will make an investigation. The police had also assisted in the search.

JITNEY BUS AND ROADSTER COLLIDE

A jitney bus driven by James Starling, Jr., 1329 Park avenue, and a six-cylinder Hudson roadster owned by Thomas Sheridan, of the firm of Sheridan & Kirk, crashed into each other at Third and Market streets at 8:30 Wednesday evening.

Mr. Starling was driving his car east on Third street and the Sheridan car was being driven south on Market street.

The cars came together with much force, but no one was injured and the machines were able to leave on their own power.

The Starling car was the more damaged of the two. The whole left side of it was smashed, the fender was badly bent, the running board was twisted out of shape and the left front wheel was torn off and the axle was bent.

Both lamps of the Sheridan machine were smashed and one fender was bent. Mr. Starling had no one in his car and he was not injured, possibly remaining at the wheel when he saw that a collision was inevitable. Mr. Sheridan was on his way to the Washington Hotel for supper when the smashup took place.

THINKS BRYAN RECOILED FROM SHARP ACTION

Berlin, June 10.—In discussing the resignation of Mr. Bryan as secretary of state the Tagherblatt, while not imputing him to pro-German sympathies and declaring that at times he even has seemed less friendly than President Wilson, assumes that his political experience, "recoiled from sharp action."

Germany, a Catholic organ, thinks Mr. Bryan's retirement means an important change in the American policy which probably will be favorable to German interests.

Jane Addams' Peace Move Not Encouraged

Rome, June 9.—(Via Paris June 10).—Jane Addams, of Chicago, chairman of the special committee appointed by the Women's Peace Conference at The Hague to visit the capitals of Europe in an effort to hasten an end of hostilities has left Rome for Madrid, whence she will go to France and Belgium. While here Miss Addams was received courteously by Pope Benedict, Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, Minister Salandra and Foreign Minister Sonnino.

Although the ministers of the Italian government listened respectfully to her peace propaganda they gave her little encouragement. She was received with greater sympathy, however, at the Vatican where the Pope has labored to bring about peace but even there no secret was made of the fact that the present moment was considered scarcely opportune for such a movement as Miss Addams has undertaken.

She was told by Pope Benedict that he admired greatly the firmness and serenity of President Wilson. His Holiness expressed the hope that the initiative for peace would come from America and he pledged himself to support such a proposal with all the influence of the Holy See.
